What is spray tanning? Spray tanning is a system that utilizes a safe substance derived from cane or beet sugar, known as Dihydroxyacetone (DHA), which when sprayed onto the skin, reacts with proteins in the skin to create a tan that begins to appear within a few hours.

How long does it last? This depends on skin type, care and cell turnover rate. A spray tan will last 5 - 12 days normally. See aftercare.

Is it safe? Yes, most spray tanning solutions are comprised of mild, safe cosmetic ingredients. Pregnant or nursing women should consult physician before tanning.
